HOT DIP GALVANIZING

Hot dip galvanizing is the best protective coating solution available for steel-based materials. It is a process where steel articles are immersed in a bath of molten zinc to create an alloying reaction between steel and zinc to provide full corrosion resistance.

By protecting it from rust and corrosion, it provides long life and durability, even in severe coastal exposure. Its long-term protection is well-documented worldwide and is superior to any other protective coating.

PAINTING SERVICES

UNIK proudly offers industrial metal painting services for our customers. Whereby the surface treatment, primer selection, and color choice are determined through a consultative process to help guarantee that all metal products are prepared for specific painting applications and have the correct paint applied to meet the demands of specific environmental conditions.

Metal painting gives any component or finished product an aesthetically pleasing appearance and adds to its market value.
